

ONE EARTH – TWO PATHS

The Rainbow Prophecy

It is time to reveal that other path

‘THE MANAIANWAY’

Is the Manaian pathway the people's solution?

There are many problems that we face in a country and around the world as a whole.

The systems we follow allow for manipulations at many levels in every area of our lives, which leads to corruptions of people and countries trying to get above one another and have more, because this system separates each of us from the things we need to survive and this is so because money is the driver of everything and without it we are deprived of food, water, home, safety and security, healthcare, and everything else, yet most people are unaware that this system is doing exactly what it was supposed to do.

That was to create a race of labourers which will be indebted to keep on labouring outlined in their Modern Economics book back in the 1700's.

John Locke penned ownership and Adam Smith added the fractional reserve monetary system.

To see the answer we need a Locke-Smith to prepare a specific key which unlocks ownership created by John Locke and fractional reserve lending created by Adam Smith.

It was Leonardo Divinci who taught us through alchemy that if we were to change just one element of something we could turn Lead into Gold and so the chains of money and ownership ``the Lead`` can be replaced by Guardianship which gives us the ``Gold``.

Our current system funds billions of dollars to housing providers to create new housing and some affordable housing, and both Australia and New Zealand have benefit system departments dedicated to finding jobs and homes for those who are unable to get work or have minimum wage jobs and still cannot support themselves.

This now costs the taxpayer just over 1/3rd of the total government budgets which are constantly on the increase with no end in sight.

On top of this is an overloaded healthcare system and a stretched police force and we have less fulltime jobs available than ever before as bigger companies close their doors and move overseas or become automated.

Any solution must include all of the issues at hand and policies made by those in glass houses fail to see the real impact their limited solution offers, or how their policy affects other things that are not even in their scope of vision.

The Manaian way combines social issues, spiritual issues, monetary issues, healthcare issues, housing issues, business and commerce and world trade issues and governmental issues and offers a solution which touches and effects each of these categories and shows us the most logical way to implement simple change to benefit each category.

Let me show you what Guardianship gives us and why.

Benefits.

- Guardianship is unity based
- And this allows affordability to every property because every property will carry no lending nor debt
- This leads to generational long term rentals for anyone
- There is safety and security in generational long term rentals
- The property owner is the Manaia Fund which is started by Glenn and Jenny Phelan on behalf of all of us/ everyone.
- The Manaia Fund is a company that holds property, collects the returning rent to our Guardianship fund and purchases more properties without any heirarchical costs.
- The fund belonging to everyone will hold the property indefinitely for the use of generational guardians
- People become responsible for their own beneficial ``castle``
- Maintenance is covered by the tenant
- No management is required just like ownership
- And there comes a point where the cost of the property has been recouped and there is no more rent to pay, ever.
- Tenants can have inside pets without restriction
- Tenants with drug addictions will not be moved on to other properties affecting only themselves ending transient meth contamination.
- Renter transiency can end
- Family violence can decrease as housing and job security stress eases
- Child abuse will be easier to stop as one income will support a property
- Children will grow up with kids that they know

- Children are safer in environments that they know
- Families can become single income and be better off
- On any property guardianship is possible
- Government rent subsidy schemes can help you pay for one
- Works for mental health homes and indigenous housing as well
- Banks and banking cannot affect this
- Interest rate hikes and housing bubbles won't affect this
- Houses will be fitted with water tanks and solar for free water and power consumption
- A house price market correction will be good for us
- Families may move back to the cheaper country properties leaving the overcrowded cities behind
- Towns may spring back into life as the cost of living reduces
- City slums may empty for new developments
- Renovations will be on the increase as rent to guardianship allows a renter to paint and renovate if required
- Community housing providers should amalgamate using less taxpayer funds for management
- Many housing departments can also be downsized and amalgamate
- All funds for affordable housing will go to property purchases and these properties will generate funds for more properties
- Our stress levels will decrease
- Overall health should improve
- Overseas Country relations should improve
- The war machine will not be required
- The government can save money
- The government will have less responsibility
- This Manaian system could be a privatisation of the benefit system
- People will be able to choose the companies to work for
- People will be safe to go into business without the fear of losing their home or their new found benefits if the business fails
- Corporations doing environmental damage may have no workers
- Our food supply will be better protected which will improve the quality
- We can stop our oceans and streams from further dumping
- And we can use our resources in a sustainable way and protect the delicate microbial environments feeding the critters feeding us

Guardianship leads us toward each of us obtaining a basic freedom which includes free power, water and a home which includes safety and security, which removes much of the stress we are currently under to provide ourselves with these things.

We will still need to do a minimum of work to buy the next TV or car etc. after we become fully fledged guardians however the time frame for this depends on each individual or family and the cost of the property which is to be reimbursed back into the Manaia (Guardian) Fund.

A guardian rental contract allows the occupier to pay rent back into the fund and offers the renter a secure tenancy without an increase in costs and also offers an end point where no more rent ever needs to be paid. The property can be passed to a family member without cost and without further rent, and for this privilege the tenancy requires the tenant to take care of the rates and insurance just like an owner would.

This means that there is no rental agent checking up on the condition of the property doing their bi-monthly inspections and there is no rent increases coming and it means that you can paint or change things and have as many pets as you like without fear of being moved on or evicted, unless you get on the wrong side of the law or become of bad character to the neighbors.

The rent to guardianship contract makes you responsible for the way you act in and around your home and the rewards are the benefits you receive to act as the owner, paying the rates and insurances and fixing the homes issues when they arrive.

This is fair that everyone is able to feel like an owner, and it is safer than ownership because no one can remove the property from you except you, meaning that it cannot be leant against, sold or used as security for a loan.

Are you prepared to live as a Guardian?

So with this in mind do we want to fund ourselves and our future generations or do we want to continue on the path we are currently on?

We are taking nothing away. We can still buy if we want but the long term would suggest that most people will want guardianship rather than ownership because it is quicker than ownership and cheaper.

Also guardianship allows every current renter to be equally on a path where he or she will equally be able to become free of rent or a mortgage which is timed to the factor of each life and their contract which gives security to each tenant in much less time than a bank mortgage with less cost than a bank mortgage and without a deposit like a bank mortgage.

So how do we fund this?

Resources we have - Billions in superannuation that we could use as a mandatory start point. Charities are all too common which accept hundreds of millions of dollars in donations per annum. Billions given to community housing providers and we could have a renter subsidy that could fund it rather than looking for philanthropists and good hearted old fellas that are cash poor asset rich.

We have housing resources such as country houses that have been abandoned because there was no work around or old motels and pubs which are dirt cheap that we could use as shared tenancies to sustain a lifestyle and house boats and caravans for immediate use for the homeless with portable sanitary toilet blocks and shower facilities would be instant and more effective solution.

Guardianship is cheaper because it carries no debt and what we spend on a property we get back through rent which by contract is the return of principal funds without interest fees or charges which filters back to the fund to be spent again and again without the need for management.

Because every home is purchased outright with no lending, this allows a rent to be set that is beneficial to the tenant and the people's Manaia Fund.

Do not confuse this with rent to buy.

Rent to Guardianship does not give the tenant ownership but rents can still come to an end.

For the 70% of Anzac families who are stuck in the current rental trap in New Zealand and Australia, the issues of renting which include investment properties where a tenant is used to increase yields to on-sell at a profit, rentals are always increasing, and then we have slum-lords who won't repair any issues in the home, making tenants life hell in some cases, which are current problems associated with rentals.

For these families who are now used to only 6 months as fixed terms, the fear of rental increases twice a year on top of bi monthly inspections have the families in fear to speak up if there is a problem with something so they stay quiet in fear of eviction, where eviction brings with it more stress of finding another home and has associated moving and cleaning costs and schools to change over too, and for many tenants, property managers end up keeping the bonds because of unproven cleaning issues or supposed damage.

Give a family a home for life and the responsibility of one and you have one happy family. Our motto `` Take our home and make it your own`` says it all.

Another amazing benefit is that if you become incapacitated and lost your job for life the payments left owing could be either picked up by others or deferred until you are back on your feet, and for the most serious incapacities, the tenant after you can pick up the remainder of the cost.

The importance of early childhood in a stable environment allows early diagnosis of issues that have preventative cures which can go undetected as families are forced to move on under the current regime. We can help a lot more people with mental disorders in safe and stable environments, and children can get used to their environment and make friends to last a lifetime as transiency ends.

The big issue facing families and politicians at present is jobs and housing affordability.

Many policies in relation to jobs and Worksafe have seen the cost of employing people blow out with the supposed figure equalling the total superannuation account for the nation.

Large companies struggle with level playing fields and ministerial policies which can crush industry go unnoticed by many, but leave us at the mercy of imports in a consumer system that deals with monetary profit only.

I still remember the textile industry, the orange groves getting dozed and the Aussie built cars now all but a memory.

The old builders did not need bean bags to fall on and a mechanic could fix anything automotive back some 40 years ago. Now we have 20 specified people doing what one could easily do and today we have lost the overall picture of what it is we were once qualified to do and this has become an education system issue.

With permanent jobs harder and harder to find in both Australia and New Zealand we can see that automation has removed many of the menial task jobs we used to all start with.

World governments created level playing fields which have allowed some countries to have cheap labour which in turn entices our big industry to move away from home which has further impacted our permanent job market.

Today we are trending toward two or more part time jobs to survive, and this is showing up with hundreds of applicants applying for the same job.

If we go back 40 years we had thousands of bustling towns of where you could stay and carve out a living yet today only a handful are in this condition. During this period and with many changes of government, a series of economic changes has made many move to the cities to get work and it has made the factories also move because they needed the workers so the trend is for the country folk to become city dwellers. It is my opinion that the two types are very different in nature with the city folk quick and alert to manipulations and the country folks more caring and sharing nature provides the embezzlers with fertile picking.

What we are talking about here is social values. City and country are socially different because of the social environment the people are living in and this is important because this is what creates un-level playing fields both home and abroad.

In the same period house values have also had unequal growth with city prices doubling every 7 years and country ones doubling every 22 years and in some instances going backward which does not happen in the city.

In 1976 a new 3 bed house in Murarrie Qld could be purchased for 13k off the plan and a block of 4 -2bed flats in Nambour Qld was built for 16k. Today these are 750k properties.

In Northland Maungaturoto you could also buy a 3bed house for 12k that today is worth 350k and yet the retirees who invested in the city are 3 times wealthier than their country counterparts with Auckland now averaging 1 mill.

Guardianship is likely to trend families back to the country and these monetary values will end up meaning nothing if nothing is ever sold and the families trending back will be out of debt and safer quicker as the cost is less.

Can you imagine leaving school and sharing with 3 or 4 housemates in a guardian home where 10-15 years down the track your cost of living, a basic existence, has become zero?

And can you imagine the generational farmer who struggles in tough times able to sell his debt for the farm or family home to the Manaia fund and stay at the property and still keep it in the family but this time as guardians rather than owners, or the elderly could sell their property to the fund for a lesser value and stay in their home spending some of their wealth and still pass it down if they wish.

This should be preferable than being mortgagee'd and being forced out by the banks declared as unviable and unvaluable.

As the people become protected in this new Manaian way what impact can this have on the government of the day?

The government could save by merging departments to streamline guardianship properties because there is a direct link to stopping the benefit system growing and in fact able to start to shrink the taxpayer funds required in its dole and benefit system.

The correlation with funding guardianship is directly related to reducing the benefit system costs which is a win-win for us all.

Guardianship is the key to altering the path of humanity and the Manaia fund is the key to guardianship.

EmpowerUs is the Manaia Fund manager which operates the Manaia Fund as a separate entity to keep the fund operating costs to zero and to keep the funding separate and transparent.

EmpowerUs is a separate entity to the Not for profit Manaia Fund Pty Ltd which means that the work is done through EmpowerUs, and the Manaia Fund entity simply holds property, is reimbursed and buys more property.

Man-ayan/ Manaian is a word derived from the Maori word manaia meaning Guardian and the Manaian way is a guardianship path for all of humanity.

Our timing seems to coincide as the time of many prophecies where in particular the Rainbow prophecy told us that this is the time where two paths for humanity would come to be in existence with the new path delivering social justice to all that would follow.

Prophecy tells us that one path for humanity will lead to the destruction of mankind and all living things, and we believe this path is consumerism which will keep taking and raping the last of our natural resources, creating inferior products designed to become rubbish and replaced as often as possible which ends up littering and poisoning our environment is today in fact good business practice which makes money yet this is the path of our destruction.

The second path is said to be a path that unites people from all nations who stand together and heal themselves and the planet where many extinct animals will come back into existence and the world will be abundant once more.

The Manaian way seems tribal in nature as it gives people what they lost when their lands were conquered which was the freedom to live hunt and gather without the need for any monetary exchange or boundaries.

We lived in communities in tepees or huts, used water from streams and caught our food and collected firewood in a free basic need society and the Manaian way gives us those things again within the small title and boundary that has been designated to us by the present system.

The Manaian system is designed to give each man woman and child in every country his or her basic needs (tepee, stream food and firewood) without cost which means that we can have housing electricity water and a basic amount of food which will end poverty and starvation, and whoever we are and in whatever language we speak, we will all have the same rights and all be working toward living the same way.

The Manaian way protects us from many of the world systems that currently operate and if we all worked for the same common goal we may be able to create a world more stable and much more peaceful that we ever dreamed.

Statistics go as far as saying 95% of humanity only own 1% of the world's resources and that poverty and homeless is on the continual increase.

We have refugees fleeing their homelands because global companies are fighting over their land and resources to which they have no control and no say as the protection of them and their family means nothing.

Today people are vulnerable to business and commerce as it is entwined in our daily and social lives, which means when things happen on the other side of the world it somehow makes our cost of living increase. Fuel and oil, food supplies, clothing, rents and mortgage repayments can be affected by flood and fire, by stock market fluctuations and housing bubbles and new leaders in any country can impact us here.

The Manaian way protects us from all things business and commerce because ``we the people`` will not be mixed into this chaos any longer and the business world will take the hit rather than the people.

We the people`` with our new protection will become a new breed. Protected people will decide which businesses are good for us as a whole and which are not, and this allows people to each decide which businesses they would like to work for and which businesses to boycott buying from or working for, which makes all of us environmental business activists in a passive way.

Guardianship is paying it forward to us and every generation after us and we live in a time when social justice will come into its own.

Social Justice is important because unless we change the way we live, we will continue to further impact have our environment because it is impossible to fix something when there is a monetary value placed upon it.

We survive and thrive when our environment is pristine and we become sluggish and angry when our environment is toxic.

Which environment would you prefer?

Unite the Manaian Way.
